Case Study – Spinnaker Consulting Ltd

“We are a long established and expanding company who simply outgrew our old office. The main problem was that we were based in Leigh-on-Sea: a lovely location but seriously lacking in office space. We eventually found an office of ideal size and ideal location, but in a terrible condition. We hammered out a deal with the Landlord to share the cost of redevelopment. Talis were recommended to us but we still got a further two quotes from other companies. Talis came in cheapest, although still over budget for both ourselves and the Landlord. Talis then suggested many improvements to our initial layout ideas, and patiently re-quoted specifications until they met each of our respective budgets. Work was carried out on time and to budget and the inevitable snags and problems and further changes to specification were dealt with amiably, promptly and professionally. Talis were able to deal very professionally with the two distinct clients, keeping each other fully informed throughout the process. In summary, Talis made a potentially stressful project a simple and straightforward process for us. Should we need to move again in the future, we would undoubtedly go straight to them.”
